O Lord, Thou art the Son of man, Our hu-man na - ture Thou didst take; Be - got - ten of a vir - gin true, Of flesh and blood Thou didst par - take."

1. O Lord, Thou art the Son of man,
Our hu-man na - ture Thou didst take; Be - got - ten of a vir - gin true, Of flesh and blood Thou didst par - take.
2. In bondman's form, with lowliness,
Thou walkedst on this earth of woe;
The human living Thou didst have
And all its sufferings undergo.
3. Born in a manger as a babe,
Thou wast a child among the poor;
Thou as a carpenter didst work,
And e'en an outlaw's death endure.
4. Then Thou wast raised up from the dead,
Still with the human nature true;
And as a man in form divine,
Thou didst ascend to heaven too.
5. Now over all, and on the throne,
Thou, still a man, art glorified;
A man with God in light divine
With whom our God is satisfied.
6. In glory Thou wilt come again,
Still as a man appearing then;
As King of kings, with pow'r divine,
With human nature seen by men.
7. Thou, as the center of all things,
In the new heav'n and earth shalt be,
Forever as the One divine,
Existing in humanity.
