trying, Though floods of afflic-tion like sea billows roar, It's bet-ter to sing than be sigh-ing: It is bet-ter to live than be dying; So let us rejoice ev-ermore.

2. O let us rejoice in the Lord evermore,
When the darts of the tempter are flying,
For Satan still dreads, as he oft did of yore,
Our singing much more than our sighing.
3. O let us rejoice in the Lord evermore,
When sickness upon us is stealing,
No cordial like gladness our strength can restore,
For joy is the fountain of healing.
