2. 'Twas all according to God's plan To trap the Devil, Satan. His sphere of moving narrowed now, Man's flesh his habitation; Though brilliant was his plan To enter into man, This man became instead The means to bruise his head, And finish him forever. An act of wisdom purely.
And on the cross did thus enmesh
His foe held so securely.
Though desperate Satan's plight—
He fought with all his might;
But when the morning came
Christ was alive again,
And Satan crushed forever.
