2. In Him, keep deep'ning our roots; life blossoms, sends forth shoots;

Each morn, we rise, gain manna new, His word afresh pursue.

We offer ceaseless prayer, as simple lilies fair;

New wine and olive oil we bear, Christ's glory to declare.

3. The Lord will surely restore the locust-eaten years;

By resurrection's mighty pow'r, all failure disappears.

Appearing constantly, our Songs of Steps* He leads;

No care for earthly fame have we; we share God's history.

4. Our worthless house of straw we build in vain no more;

We gather wood in one accord His dwelling to restore;

Clean homes, fling wide the doors; greet sinners from all shores;

Bring in the sheaves with shouts of joy, the flock lead to the Lord.

5. Revival's law operates in cycles, night and day;

Rise, preach always, in every place, till earth resounds with praise.

The corp'rate God-man life, it's heaven's life on earth;

Oh, keep us, Lord, at every time still fresh till Your return.

(Note: Songs of Steps is another name for the Songs of Ascents in the Psalms.)
