<ol> <li>2. Though your friends shrink back and tremble, One with Satan silently, Neighbors ridicule, reviling, Siding with the enemy,</li> <li>3. When the world shows ease and pleasure, Sets for you a blissful net, When you face vainglory's offer, When you stumble, faith forget,</li> <li>4. When the family's load is heavy, Naught of natural strength avails, Suffering losses inward, outward, Even labor's profit fails,</li> <li>5. Soon the battle will be over, Satan's forces will be turned. Soon the Church will hear the trumpet, Glory and triumph is earned.</li> <li>6. Now the King returns in triumph, Rules the world by God's decree; Now all nations bow before Him, Praising Jesus reverently.</li> </ol>
