

I Live and Yet Not I

Experience of Christ—As Life

1. I live and yet not I, For Christ He lives in me.
 The life I live in the flesh now Is Christ, just Christ, to be.
 O what a mar - vel - ous hope, Lord, To find my - self in You,
 And in ex - pe - rience my boast - ing, To know You through and through.

2. O what a wondrous existence,
 Of all which is most blessed.
 You see, Lord, I am now softened
 To take from You what's best.

It's not my fervent resolve, Lord,
 Nor e'en my love untrue.
 It's You in me Who is doing,
 What I for You couldn't do.

3. From every other attraction—
 Be faithful, break me free.
 Though smarting, Lord, from Love's action,
 Each wound draws me to Thee.

You see each end from beginning;
 Take me through each dark phase;
 As long, Lord, as love conforms me,
 Fits me to meet You that day.

4. So here we are, dear Lord Jesus,
 And may Your precious hand,
 Accomplish all that You've purposed,
 All that You've for us planned.

You are our one destination,
 You are our destiny.
 These days, just for our preparing,
 Will leave what in memory?

5. In us, Lord, gain all You're after,
 In us, Lord, gain Your Bride.
 In us, be so very blessed.
 In us, be satisfied.

As we, Lord, become Your fullness
 And You in us reside,
 Keep us, dear Lord, in Your love-bonds,
 As mutually we abide.
