2. Saints, beware the knowledge tree
 Appearing so good; it's even pretty.
 Its evil and good will open your eyes.
 Its issue, my friend: you'll surely die.
 The serpent, he crept in,
 Injected in man his death and sin.
 Man was seduced this knowledge to take.
 My friend, that was the greatest mistake.

3. Look, dear saints, in eternity!
 There's just a river and a tree!
 It's life, life abundantly —
 Eating and drinking our destiny.
 God's growing and flowing.
 We're eating and drinking.
 God is our treasure.
 He is our joy and pleasure.

4. Christ is the tree of life
 Eating Him always satisfies.
 Christ is the river
 Drink Him, our joy and pleasure.
 Eat Him and drink Him,
 Christ our enjoyment.
 God is our treasure.
 He is our joy and pleasure.

5. Dear saints, just love Him.
 Surely you will enjoy Him.
 He is so enjoyable,
 So precious and so available.
 Our God is dispensing
 His life into us, so refreshing.
 He is so enjoyable,
 So precious and so available.
